1986 PIEDMONT CROSSING CELEBRATES 25 YEARS! 2011

MEET NEW RESIDENTS

Bobbi Hunter and Deacon!

Bobbi Hunter, a new resident at Piedmont Crossing has watched her sister's children struggle with their mother's Alzheimer's and through that experience has realized the importance of living in a continuing care retirement community. "It was my sister's children that had the burden of what to do with their mom. I did not want to burden my family and now feel I'm taken care of. I've downsized and cleaned out my things and have the comfort of knowing I have continuing care. The kids don't need to do anything."

If you live in Thomasville you've most likely met or heard of Bobbi. She was raised in Lexington, NC, but lived in Thomasville most of her life where she was the owner/instructor of Bobbi's School of

After much anticipation, the Veranda Library was re-opened following a complete renovation – funded by a grant from the United Church Homes & Services Foundation. Volunteer residents worked diligently restoring the renovated library to full working capacity. Updated shelving and lighting showcase the books, while a welcome area greets residents and guests. Whether a resident wants to sit quietly and read, or work at one of the nearby tables, the newly renovated Library has a perfect spot.

These ladies enjoy reading and sharing their book recommendations.

Piedmont Crossing residents, Flo Crutchlow and Clara Jensen delight in their pedicures, which took place after a lunch and limo ride. Flo was the prize winner of an afternoon of pampering for two at the Welcome Reception for Dr. Eric Beck. Both ladies thoroughly enjoyed their day!

In early January, staff from Centerclair in Lexington and Piedmont Crossing began moving the Centerclair residents into one of four households that are part of the newly expanded and renovated health care center at Piedmont Crossing. Our residents are happily enjoying their surroundings and feeling more at home every day. Piedmont Crossing's household concept is destined to be a model for the future. Welcome Home!
